

Update:

Light Recurring

Products Affected:

Virtual Terminal

When:

Now

Details:

We have added a new payment function to the 'Credit and Debit' menu in the Virtual Terminal, called Light Recurring.

This function allows the user to process payments for several tokens at one time, and each one can have a different payment amount. This is helpful for merchants who have recurring payments for customers made on an irregular schedule or have varying amounts. Instead of using the 'Use Token' function over and over, you can now process payments for multiple tokens at once.

This is only available to users whose profiles include access to processing payments with tokens. When 'Light Recurring' is selected, the screen will show all tokens available to the user.

For each token to be charged, enter an amount and select the checkbox in the 'send' column, then click 'Submit'. Please note that just an amount will not trigger a payment; you must also click the checkbox.

(over)